

EMPLOYMENT

Grenada introduced the Employment Act in 1999 which provides for conditions for employment, discipline and termination.

At the same time the Labour Relations Act was introduced which deals with Trade Unions and their certification and dispute procedures.

The firm has extensive experience in this area having represented both employers and major trade unions.